The candles and flowers on the altar are in celebration of the saints that have gone on before us.

On All Saints Day, United Methodists publicly remember and honor those who have passed away. Celebrated on the first Sunday in November, many congregations light candles, ring bells of remembrance and call the names of those lost in the previous year as a way of honoring the impact their lives have had on us.

Historically, the Church has confessed a belief in the "communion of the saints," which includes not only all living believers, but also all who have gone before us. When we celebrate Holy Communion, we experience the communion of saints, feasting with believers past, present and future.

The author of Hebrews 12 reminds us that these saints, a "great cloud of witnesses," surrounds us and cheers us on.
